

Nintex Named Workflow and Content Automation Innovator for Three Consecutive Years and Company's Senior Corporate Counsel Camden Hillas Receives Women in Tech Legal Award

BELLEVUE, Wash., Dec. 7, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Nintex, the global standard in process management and automation, is pleased to announce that last night at the Aragon Research Award Ceremony and Holiday Reception in Redwood City, Calif., the company was awarded the Aragon Research Innovator Award for outstanding technology innovation in Workflow and Content Automation (WCA). Aragon also recognized Senior Corporate Counsel Camden Hillas as the 2018 Aragon Research Women in Technology Award recipient for her legal leadership.

The Aragon Research Innovator Awards recognize providers utilizing visionary technology to actively disrupt, inform and lead the evolution of their markets. This year Nintex acquired Promapp™, a market-leading visual process mapping management solution used by hundreds of public and private sector organizations to easily map and manage business processes.

"2018 has been a significant year for Nintex and our employees," said Nintex CEO Eric Johnson. "We're honored to receive the Workflow and Content Automation Innovator Award for three consecutive years and to have one of our senior leaders, Camden Hillas, recognized for her customer facing commercial efforts and legal expertise."

The Women in Technology Award recognizes the achievements of women who have demonstrated outstanding personal and professional growth and significantly contributed to the technology industry. Hillas was awarded this honor due to her outstanding leadership, status as a trailblazer for other women at Nintex, and her ability to drive change within her organization.

When asked about Hillas, Nintex VP of Corporate Development Baran Erkel said, "Camden was instrumental in our successful acquisition of Promapp. She provided leadership, both as Senior Corporate Counsel and as a core member of the deal and integration teams, resulting in a smooth process, on-time closing and successful integration."

The 2018 Aragon Research awards follow a significant year of organizational growth and industry recognition for Nintex. Earlier this year, Nintex also received the Business Intelligence Group's Award for Business Company of the Year and the Stratus Award in the cloud computing category. Nintex also received a 2018 Golden Bridge Award in the Best Product, Services, Business Process Management Innovations category.
